Law Firm Promotes Peaceful, Principled Policies

NewsUSA

(NU) - In America, people enjoy individual freedoms, and for the most part, they are able to express them as long as they don't restrict the rights and freedoms of others.

Many people adopt a "live and let live" attitude that is based on respect for the rights and sovereignty of others but that promotes the rights of competent adults to be responsible for their own lives, property, money, and time.

Attorney Marc J. Victor is president of the Arizona- and Hawaii-based Attorneys for Freedom law firm. Mr. Victor and his associates at Attorneys for Freedom are representative of a business supporting the Live and Let Live Movement. The firm, which accepts cases nationally, is committed to the ideals of the movement and the qualified team is ready to assist individuals with a range of issues in criminal, civil rights, and personal injury law.

Being charged with a crime is serious and has long-term consequences. If you or someone you know has been charged with a crime, a state bar certified criminal law specialist can make the difference. These attorneys are experts in criminal law who are ready to navigate the tricky territory of the criminal justice system.

The team at Attorneys for Freedom stands out for their attention to their individual clients and belief in the Live and Let Live principles. "At the Attorneys for Freedom Law Firm, we are interested in building long-term relationships based on trust," says Mr. Victor.

"Cultivating such a relationship based on trust allows us to have a better, deeper and genuine understanding of our client's problems, concerns, and issues. With that understanding, we can more effectively advocate for our client's goals or better assist our client to determine what those goals should be. Effective lawyers who sincerely empathize, understand and are truly invested in the client as another fellow human can also share in the joy of obtaining those goals," he explains.

This focus on trust and belief in the individual's rights to manage their own affairs without being disturbed by others is part of the outside-the-box thinking and commitment to the Live and Let Live Movement that makes Attorneys for Freedom stand out.

The firm seeks to fully understand a client before seeking a long-term solution that will bring them peace and freedom from the use or threat of force, fraud, or coercion.
